

This privacy policy sets out how the SCLGA uses and protects any information that you give the SCLGA when you use this website.

SCLGA is committed to ensuring that your privacy is protected. Should we ask you to provide certain information by which you can be identified when using this website, then you can be assured that it will only be used in accordance with this privacy statement.

SCLGA may change this policy from time to time by updating this page. You should check this page from time to time to ensure that you are happy with any changes. This policy is effective from 1st May 2018.

When you visit a website, certain personal information about you can be collected automatically. When you browse through our site, read pages, or download information, we collect certain information to measure how many visitors come to the different parts of the site so we can make the site more useful. For every visitor, we collect and temporarily store the following information:

- your computer's Internet Protocol (IP) address;
- the domain from which you access the Internet;
- the website address from which you came to our site;
- the date and time you arrived at our site and how long you spent there;
- the name and version of your computer's operating system and browser;
- the pages you visited.

Our website may contain links to other sites, and you should be aware that if you access another site through a link we provide you are subject to the privacy policy of that site. SCLGA are not responsible for the contents of any pages referred from its website.

We may use your personal information, such as your name and contact details, if you choose to supply such details, for the following purposes:

- to perform the services that you have requested, which may involve contacting you by post, by telephone or by email, to allow us to promote its products, events and activities;
- to make parts of the website easier to use by not making you enter your personal information more than once;
- for the detection of fraud and for market research purposes; and
- for other reasonable purposes, always acting within the limits of the Data Protection Act, 1998.

We have endeavoured to take appropriate measures to prevent and minimize risks of unauthorised access to personal information. However, the Internet is not a totally secure medium and you acknowledge and agree that we shall not be responsible for any authorised use, distribution, damage or destruction of personal data.

SCLGA will on its own initiative, or at your request, rectify or erase any incomplete, inaccurate or out of date personal data retained in connection with the operation of this site.